

Translation

The transfer of written text from a source language into the target language while maintaining the author's intent.